

Large Dragon, Neutral Evil

AC	Init.		HP		Speed				CR
16	+4 (14)		93 (11d10 + 33)		40 ft., Burrow 20 ft., Fly 80 ft., Swim 40 ft.				5 (XP 1,800; PB +3)
			MOD	SAVE			MOD	SAVE			MOD	SAVE
	STR	18	+4	+4	DEX	13	+1	+4	CON	16	+3	+3
	INT	12	+1	+1	WIS	14	+2	+5	CHA	16	+3	+3

Skills Perception +8, Stealth +7
Res. Poison, Psychic
Imm. Charmed, Frightened, Poisoned
Senses Blindsight 30 ft., Darkvision 150 ft., Passive Perception 18
Languages Common, Draconic, Undercommon

ACTIONS

Multiattack. The dragon makes three Rend attacks.
Rend. Melee Attack Roll: +7, reach 10 ft. Hit: 11 (2d6 + 4) Slashing damage plus 3 (1d6) Poison damage.
Nightmare Breath (Recharge 5–6). Wisdom Saving Throw: DC 14, each creature in a 30-foot Cone. Failure: 22 (4d10) Psychic damage, and the target has the Frightened condition until the end of the dragon's next turn. Success: Half damage only.

VARIANT: DRAGONS AS INNATE SPELLCASTERS

FTD

This dragon can innately cast three spells, once per day each, requiring no material components. Each spell's level can be no higher than 1st. The dragon's spell save DC is DC 14, and it has +6 to hit with spell attacks.

A suggested spell list is shown below, but you can also choose spells to reflect the dragon's character. A dragon who innately casts druid spells feels different from one who casts warlock spells. You can also give a dragon spells of a higher level than this rule allows, but such a tweak might increase the dragon's challenge rating—especially if those spells deal damage or impose conditions on targets.

- command
- dissonant whispers
- faerie fire

Source: FTD